Genealogy magazine edited by former resident wins Texas award

The work of a former Pascagoula woman has been honored by the Texas State Genealogical Society.

The Genealogical and Historical Magazine Of the South, published by Carroll Ainsworth Enterprises of Harleyville, S.C., was awarded first place in the quarterly division of the Texas State Genealogical Society Book and Manuscript Awards.

THE AWARD was presented to Carroll Ainsworth McElligott, editor of the magazine, at the society's 25th annual meeting, held in Houston, Texas, earlier this month.

The Genealogical and Historical Magazine of the South is in its second year of publication. It is issued quarterly and has a nationwide circulation. Research material relating to the southern states is made readily available to the historian and genealogist in this publication.

Carroll Ainsworth McElligott, the editor, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Ainsworth of Pascagoula. She now makes her home near Harleyville. She was born in Hattiesburg and was graduated with honors from Pascagoula

High School.

She attended University of Mississippi and was graduated from William Carey College with a bachelor of arts degree in social science, with minors in English and journalism. She attended graduate school at Southern Methodist University during the summer of 1971 to study history.

Mrs. McElligott's interest in history and genealogy began while she was a student at Pascagoula High School. Her first article, Why Admiral Farragut Captured Pascagoula, won second place in the Mississippi Junior Historian Writing Contest and was published in The Mississippi Junior Historian when the author was only 16 years old. The piece was later reprinted in Thought You Should Know, a special bicentennial publication of the Pascagoula's Woman's Club.

MRS. McELLIGOTT has worked as research assistant for the Mississippi Department of Archives and History and as a deputy clerk for the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

She has worked as a paralegal and in advertising and media services. Her privately owned business, Carroll Ainsworth Enterprises, published The Lott Family Newsletter, which she founded three years ago, in addition to the award-winning magazine.

Mrs. McElligott was listed in the 1972 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America and in the bicentennial edition of Outstanding Americans.

She is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists, the National Genealogical Society, the St. George Chapter (South Carolina) of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Rebecca Stoddert Chapter (El Paso, Texas) of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Authors Guild, Inc., and the Authors League of America.

She also holds membership in the genealogical societies of Jackson County, Mobile, Texas, Arkansas, Virginia, and North Carolina; in the historical societies of Mississippi, Jackson County, and South Carolina, and in the Louisiana Genealogical and Historical Society.

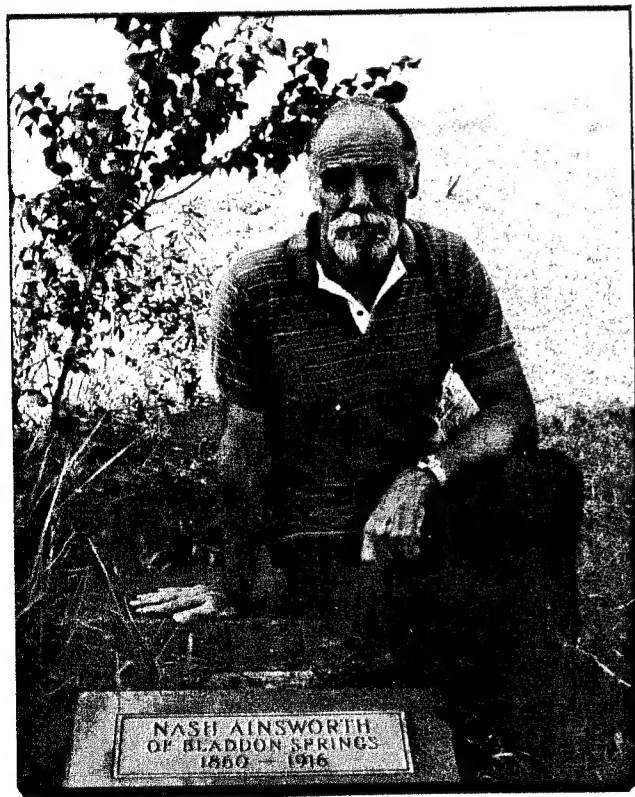

She is the author of numerous articles relating to history and genealogy and was a contributor to the Papers of Jefferson Davis, Vol. II, which was published by Rice University.

Finding Papa's Grave

Lloyd Dendinger is a native New Orleaner who has made his home in Mobile since 1966. He teaches English at the University of South Alabama.

She came down out of the red clay hills of Alabama
On a rear-wheel paddle boat, down the Tombigbee River.

Down From Bladdon Springs in Choctaw County to Mobile, Bride of a riverboat captain who took her
To New Orleans, fathered her two daughters, and died, Leaving her,

a beautiful, dark-eyed country girl,
Along with her babies in that old, wicked city
For my father to find and marry.

And so I grew up in the glittering Crescent City
That care forgot,

a city boy like my father,
Except that I had her stories about growing up
On that other river, smaller, dark and swift,
In the red clay hills and whispering virgin pines
Of turn-of-the-century south Alabama.

There are degrees and kinds of remembering, of course.
There is simple recall, memory of the head.
And there is memory of the heart and bone marrow
Which makes you live again, willy-nilly, all the joy
And pain you have known.

When my mother tells
Her tales, she becomes a child again, walking
Into the past, back through the corridors of time
The feelings of another time and place,

and thus
Taking me with her as if I were one of her cast
Of characters:

Mother, brother, sisters, preachers,
Boatmen,
and always at center stage among us, "Papa."

Under her spell, I become a child again, offspring
Of a second birth, a backward extension of the self
In time,

creation of quest and memory and genes.
As a child, I go with her as a child as she tells Her tales:

tales about walking barefoot down red
Clay roads to the one-room schoolhouse in the pines;

And about helping Papa set and run trot lines
To catch catfish out of the dark river;
And about carrying pails of water uphill
To the house from the spring below;
And about the grand hotel at Bladdon
Where folks came from the great world
For miles around to stay to drink
And bathe in the mineral waters;
And about screech owls that scream
Like women in the night,

And about how Papa
Said that if you'd wring your pocket inside out
When the cry was in the air, you'd wring their necks
And so put an end to that infernal screeching.

I heard those stories over and over
As a boy and then a man and now
In middle age

I sit, still listening to her —
She approaching ninety — feeling as always

That I am there to in those piney woods
On that dark river with her and Papa.
The stories go on and on never really ending,
Pausing only at dinnertime or when company comes,
Or when the phone rings

and the stories,
Like wisps of fog on the river burned off
By the morning sun evaporate.

With a snap
Of her fingers, Papa and his cast of characters
Exit to that quiet place where they wait
With perfect patience to be summoned up
Another time at her will and whim.

Her conjurer's magic fails her only
When she tells about her first trip down the river,
A year before she went down

in a broad-brimmed
Yellow straw hat as bride.

Shortly after
Her mother's death, she, her sister Lucy and Papa
Took the riverboat down to Mobile to look for work.
It was a venture into the great world for all three,
Even Papa.

But within a week after they arrived
He came down with pneumonia bad enough
To send him to Providence Hospital.

Within another
Week he was dead.

The bewildered girls had only
The gentle nuns of Providence who gave them boat-fare
Home and promised to see to Papa's burial.

My mother doesn't walk into that story.

She holds it at a distance, brows knit, eyes
Clouded over.

"When was that, Mother? When Did he die?" She passes the back of her hand
Across her forehead, brushing back a wisp of hair
Or cobwebs from her memory.

"A long time ago.
Before the war."

"When? What year. Where is He burried?"

She looks confused and distracted.
Again she tries to brush it away.

"In Mobile.
Before the war."

I learn not to press the matter
And come in time to see his death as she does —
So vaguely as to seem more remote in time
Than his life. And thus the trauma of the sudden
Loss in a strange place is softened into mystery.

When the currents of my destiny brought me to Mobile
To live

as surely as the currents of the river
Had carried her away those many years ago,
I knew with misgiving that I had come back
To find Papa's grave.

My first sight of the unkempt reaches of Magnolia
Cemetery fed my ambivalence about my quest.
For I felt I might wander Sunday afternoons
For a lifetime among those ruins
Without concluding anything.

And so I might have
Had I not on one rare midweek visit stumbled
Onto and into the cemetery office
To find the live and genial keeper of the dead.

"My grandfather," I announced, "Nash Ainsworth,
Just before World War I."

He turned and bent
Into a file cabinet, humming quietly to himself:
Within two minutes he was up, turned and smiling,
With an index card in hand.

"Yep. We got 'im,"
He reported cheerily. "It's an unmarked grave.
Come on. I'll show you."

Thus last spring, the lesser of the mysteries
Was resolved by routine clerical efficiency.
And though the quest for self goes on,
It is good to come now to stand
In this still place and feel the quiet joy
That comes with the discharge of filial obligation.
By the placing of a simple stone,

freshcut to read:
"Nash Ainsworth of Bladdon Springs, 1860-1916."

Old Bills Found Buried In Jars In Chicken Yard

(Special to The Chronicle)

Jackson, Feb. 19 (AP)—More than $22,000 in gold coin and federal reserve certificates, cached in fruit jars, has been dug up from the chicken house of a frugal Jasper county farmer who buried the wealth beginning 27 years ago.

J. V. Ainsworth of Moss Point said the farmer, his brother, J. F. Ainsworth, buried more than $1800 in gold coin and $21,000 in certificates beginning back in 1906.

The money was found in 50-pound lard can containing glass fruit jars sealed with wax—each full of money. Deposit slips, similar to a bank's, were inserted in each one, telling the amount of money in the jar and the date it was buried.

Ainsworth revealed the discovery today and said his brother had buried the money on his farm near Louisa, about eight miles from Bay Springs years before he died in 1948.

The Moss Point man, a drug clerk and one of the heirs, said the gold was a secret until his brother's wife told her sister, Mrs. Amanda Boutwell of Jackson, about it last month. He said the woman was on her deathbed at a Meridian hospital when she revealed that the treasure was buried in the chicken house.

Ainsworth said Mrs. Boutwell and a nephew, Thurmond Ainsworth, executor of the estate, uncovered the jars and found the money in its homemade depository.

The brother said 59 persons were named to share the money including an unidentified servant who had served the farmer and his wife for many years.

Ralph Oates, agent in charge of the secret service here, said in cases of this kind where gold is found, a report is made to the director of the mint describing in detail the coins and currency. Oates made a routine

38 Foot Shrimp Boat Swamped By Storm

Hope was virtually abandoned late this week for the lives of two Pascagoula fishermen missing since Saturday.

The men are Frank Danley and John Caviness.

Their 38-foot boat was found Sunday morning swamped a ground about two miles from the mouth of the river and west of the channel.

The boat, heavily laden with ice and fuel, apparently had put about to return to port, driven in by Saturday's violent storm.

Rivermen said it evidently was driven aground on spoil from the channel dredging and was swamped by waves churned up by the storm, which also is thought to have caused the crash of a large passenger airplane in the Gulf 50 miles southeast of Pascagoula.

Coast Guardsmen ended their search for the missing shrimpers at mid-week. Local fishing boats, however, were continuing the hunt when weather permitted.

Rough weather Thursday prevented their going out.

The capsize trawler was sighted Sunday morning by its owner, Clarence Laddner of Pascagoula. It was raised and brought in by a Coast Guard buoy tender.

The roof of the pilot house had been swept off, the after deck shelter gone and all gear washed from its deck, including hatch covers and oil drums.

Laddner said Danley had been employed to captain the boat two months ago. He did not know when the trawler put out on its ill-fated trip.

Caviness, he said, was unknown to him, had evidently come to town only recently.

We have heard a lot of groaning about playing Santa Claus to Europe, but the groaners seem to forget that at the same time we have in effect, been lifting ourselves by our own economic boot straps.

Frank Smith, able Third District congressman, put his finger on this in a recent news-letter.

"Our American economy is dependent upon a sound foreign trade," Smith's letter said. "We must buy from foreign countries if we expect them to buy from us. Since World War II a good part of our exports has been financed by our econ-

"An example of how the escape clause works is now pending before President Eisenhower for final decision. Domestic manufacturers of briar pipes say that briar pipes made in Europe are underselling them here in the US, even though the European pipes have to pay a 75% tariff. The tariff commission has upheld the complaint, and the tariff on imported pipes will be raised even higher unless the president intervenes. If the tariff is increased this source of European trade will be cut off, and pipe smokers of America will pay a subsidy of perhaps 100% to an industry that cannot meet free competition. The penalty will be paid by more than just the pipe smokers, however. The loss of dollars to Europe will have to eventually be paid for by American taxpayers in the form of

We pulled the boy through on sheer faith. From what we could see with eyes reddened by a blood pressure of 315, Maybin did all right. He stuck strictly to business.

He enjoyed himself. His only disappointment of the evening was over Arnold Walker's failure to change him into a rabbit with what Maybin thought was the king's magic wand.

By the time of his second performance of the week (the Hix-Jinx Saturday), he was a bit blasé. "I'm being in so much balls," he explained as he pulled on his satin vestments (borrowed).

Damages were estimated at $600 to each car.

During the past year volunteer workers contributed more than 3000 hours service to activities of the local chapter, Margaret Noyes, executive secretary, reported.

Asked why his brother would bury his wealth instead of banking it, Ainsworth said with a shrug "you know people used to do that." He said his brother had a bank account too indicating he had no fear of those institutions.

Neighbors of the Ainsworths in Louin described the family as frugal and hard working. Their home was modest and their tastes simple, friends said.

INTRODUCTION TO THE AINSWORTH FAMILY HISTORY

The opening of new frontiers and a people endowed with the pioneer spirit for adventure brought our ancestors out of the Carolina's into a new country, rich in fertile land, virgin forests teeming with wild life and rivers abounding with fish. Surely this was the land of milk and honey they had envisioned and hoped to eventually find. Following the three chopped way, they forged ahead, some stopping off for awhile in Georgia and Alabama, while others made their way on to Mississippi and westward.

The year of 1803 found Levin Hainsworth well established on 396 acres of rich, fertile land, situated in Washington County Alabama, along the Tombigee River. It is interesting to note, in our family history, Levin is a common given name and most Ainsworth families have a Levin, even to this day. It is also interesting that most all our Ainsworth's passed through, or stopped off in Washington County, Alabama, at one time or another.

By the time the Federal Marshall's were enumerating the people of -Washington County, Alabama for the 1830 census, Thomas Hainsworth and his family were listed, next to Levin Hainsworth. Just over in Butler County, Nathaniel Hainsworth, Caswell and Joab Ainsworth were enumerated.

INTRODUCTION TO THE AINSWORTH FAMILY HISTORY

The opening of new frontiers and a people endowed with the pioneer spirit for adventure brought our ancestors out of the Carolina's into a new country, rich in fertile land, virgin forests teeming with wild life and rivers abounding with fish. Surely this was the land of milk and honey they had envisioned and hoped to eventually find. Following the three chopped way, they forged ahead, some stopping off for awhile in Georgia and Alabama, while others made their way on to Mississippi and westward.

The year of 1803 found Levin Hainsworth well established on 396 acres of rich, fertile land, situated in Washington County Alabama, along the Tombigee River. Because of this legal paper, we assume the wife and mother of the above named children is deceased.

By the time of the 1840 federal census, Nathaniel Hainsworth had returned to Alabama from his stay in Louisiana. The census taker recorded the following information:

PASCAGOULA LIBRARY
GENEALOGY COLLECTION

1840 Census - Washington County, Alabama - Southern District - Page No. 281

Nathaniel Hainsworth - 4 males under 5 years; 1 male 5-10 years; 2 females 5-10 years; 2 females 20-30. Four are listed in agriculture.

Looking at this information, it appears Nathaniel is remarried.

Thomas Ainsworth and his family had removed from Washington County, Alabama and were now in Smith County, Mississippi when the 1840 census was taken.

1840 Census - Smith County, Mississippi

Thomas Ainsworth - 1 male 10-15 years; 1 male 50-60 years; 1 female 10-15 years; 1 female 40-50 years.

Family history tells us Thomas Ainsworth was born about 1773-1775 in South Carolina. In 1855, he filed an application for bounty land, in Smith County, Miss. In this application, he states he served as a private in the War of 1812, from Georgia, in the place of Boller Moon. He served under the name of Thomas Hainsworth. The application was rejected and he recieved no bounty land because no war record was found for Thomas Ainsworth or Boller Moon.

Thomas Ainsworth married Sarah Finch, born about 1775 in South Carolina. She is believed to be the daughter of Edward and Martha Finch. The known children of Thomas and Sarah are Sampson, born 1804; Ainsley Canzada, born 1810; Sarah, born 1812; James, born 1816 and William Thomas, born 1823. There is much speculation on the other children. It is agreed there were others. Sampson married Anne Jones while still in Washington County, Alabama. Ainsley Canzada married George Washington Redmond; Sarah married John C. Thomas. James married Amanda Ruffin and William Thomas married Martha Ruffin, a sister to Amanda. It is believed that Elizabeth Ainsworth, who married David Strength in 1844 in Washington County Alabama may have been one of their children. I believe that Richard Nathaniel Ainsworth, our ancestor, is also a son of Thomas and Sarah. The research I have done would confirm this, basing my belief on the ages, in question, the similarity of names throughout future generations and the location of the families in certain areas. It would also prove that Caswell and Joab Ainsworth were also their children, Records show that Joab and Caswell were in Smith and Jasper counties at one time or another, however they went on to Texas. Their descendants are found there today. It is interesting to note the sandstone marker in Cook Cemetery, Eastland County Texas that marks the grave of Joab. It reads: J.A. Ainsworth-Died March 1887 - Age 92 Years. Joab was a Physician. Caswell Ainsworth was married to Rebecca Ann Sellers, believed to be a sister to Mariah Jane, who was married to our ancestor, Nathaniel Ainsworth.

The 1850 census of Smith County, Miss. shows Thomas Ainsworth, now widowed, living in the household of his son, Sampson.

Sometime after this census and before the 1880 census, Thomas Ainsworth died. I believe he and Sarah are buried at Mt. Nebo Cemetery, near Bay Springs, Miss. in unmarked graves.

It is believed that Richard Nathaniel Ainsworth was born about 1818, tho we do not know the exact year. After the death of his wife and mother of the children named in the legal document that was executed in 1838 in Alabama, he married Mariah Jane Sellers. ~~The where-a-bouts of~~ Nathaniel's first four children are not known, except for Elizabeth Caroline. She married Americus Gunter, son of Allen and Elizabeth Gunter. They lived in Smith County and raised their family there. Their descendants remain in that and the surrounding areas to this day.

Nathaniel Ainsworth and his family were in Jasper County, Miss. in the early 1850's. I have not found them listed on any census record as a family unit in 1850. I believe they were in transit between Alabama and Mississippi when the census was being taken or else the Federal Marshall's simply missed their house.

Documents enclosed in this book shows that Nathaniel Ainsworth traveled to the Land Office at New Augusta, Miss. in 1854 to purchase a tract of land located in Jasper County, Miss.

The following notice appeared in The Eastern Clarion Ledger Newspaper on September 14, 1859:

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

In the Probate Court of Jasper County Mississippi; To Matilda Barclay and all other persons interested in the final settlement of the Estate of Nathaniel Ainsworth, deceased. Take notice that the undersigned administrator of the estate of Nathaniel Ainsworth, deceased, has presented a final account of the administration of said estate to the Probate Court of Jasper County Mississippi and will at the next November term A.D. 1859, thereof, apply for it's audition and allowance.

September 14, 1859

Allen Gunter, Administrator

This legal document shows us that Nathaniel Ainsworth was dead before the November 1859 term of the Probate Court in Jasper County Miss. The property he had bought at New Augusta, Miss. in 1854 was sold to Allen Gunter by the heirs. It is possible there was some kind of dispute over the settlement of the estate and Allen Gunter was appointed Administrator to settle the same. The Ainsworth and Gunter families are very closely connected through marriage.

This property of Nathaniel's was located approximately 1½ miles west of Bay Springs, Mississippi. It is on the north side of Highway No. 18, just as you turn to go to Mt. Nebo Cemetery. I have visited this area and the cemetery. I also believe that Nathaniel and Mariah rests today in unmarked graves in this old cemetery. They have many, many descendants buried there, too.

The next time we find Mariah Jane Sellers Ainsworth is in the 1860 census for Jasper County Miss.

Mariah Ainsworth does not appear again on any census schedule. One of her great grandsons, Floyd Ainsworth, of Smith County Miss., the son of Sam Ainsworth and Albanie Arender, recalled that his Uncle June remembered Grandmother Mariah. June was the son of Pat Ainsworth and Terry Blakeney. June was born in 1882 and died in 1961. This shows that Mariah probably died sometime between 1890 and 1900 for him to remember her. I believe Mariah is also buried, in an unmarked grave, at Mt. Nebo Cemetery, Smith County Miss.

Richard Nathaniel Ainsworth and Mariah Jane Sellers had eight children:

1. John Thomas (Jack) Ainsworth
2. Levan Ainsworth
3. Stanford Ainsworth
4. Jackson Andrew Ainsworth
5. Sarah Angielene Ainsworth
6. William Patterson (Pat) Ainsworth
7. Margaret (Peggy) Ainsworth
8. Marion C. Ainsworth

This book comprises a history of these children and their descendants.

AINS WORTH

No. 104 in a series appearing in
THE DEMOPOLIS TIMES,
June 5, 1975.

In Myrtlewood Cemetery in Livingston, Sumter County, Alabama, there is a tombstone that marks the burial place of J.L. Hainesworth, who was born near Linden, Marengo County, Alabama, February 28, 1829, and died October 19, 1857. This is an intriguing marker in that it is one of the few known markers that denotes the birthplace of an early Marengo native. Many tombstones are marked with birth and death places, but these usually mark the graves of persons born in another state who had settled in a new state. Generally speaking, if a person was born, lived, and died in the same vicinity no designations were made. It is probable that more tombstones bearing the "born in Marengo County, Alabama," information could be found in the states west of Alabama than in Alabama itself.

James Lafayette Hainesworth had moved into Sumter County from Marengo County with his parents in the early 1830's when that county was opened for settlement as a part of the area ceded to the United States by the Choctaw Indians. Some of the McGrew family, kinsmen of the Hainesworths, had moved into the Moscow region of Sumter, as well.

The Hainesworths and McGrews were a law unto themselves. When they appeared on the streets of the little village of Livingston, the people were awed by their appearance. Their horses were among the finest in Sumter County. Their saddles and bridles were the best to be had at that time. Underneath big, wide-brimmed hats they wore their hair long like the old time Indian Scouts; such as Sam Dale and Tandy Walker. Upon their boots they had fancy spurs. And they all wore pistols.

There may be more than one version of how it all happened, but the outcome is certain. Hainesworth was killed in a gun-fight with Thomas Scales on the streets of Livingston. It seems that on the day of this encounter, Mr. Scales accidentally stepped on Mr. Hainesworth's foot upon going through a door into a building. Words were exchanged, and Scales left. Minutes later Hainesworth shot and hit Scales who was in the street and unarmed. A pistol was thrown to Scales. Hainesworth was shot dead in the doorway of W.H. Coleman's store, and Scales had fallen in the street just south of the Bank of Sumter.

The parents of James L. Hainesworth were James P. Hainesworth and Amelia Adama who were married in Marengo County on November 9, 1820. This was the eleventh marriage performed in Marengo County. The ceremony was performed by Reverend William Fluker, an early Baptist minister of this county. The grandparents of James L. were Levin and Martha Hainesworth of Washington County, Alabama where he was a resident before 1810. Levin deeded a love gift to James L. Hainesworth in 1825. He made a gift the same year to John Clarke McGrew.

James P. Hainesworth died before 1850. His wife, Pamela, was the head of her household in Sumter in 1850. She was a native of Tennessee as was her brother William P.L. Adams who was managing her property at that time. Living in the household were James L.; Columbus, born about 1823; Elisha, born about 1830; Sallie A. born about 1832 and Theodosia, the wife of James L.

Columbus Hainesworth who was born in Marengo County married a Miss Cusack, the daughter of John C. Cusack and the granddaughter of Judge Sien Perry of Tuscaloosa County. Columbus Hainesworth married and was survived by a daughter who married a Mr. Sydam.

Elisha A. Hainesworth married and had children who were living in Louisiana when Amelia Hainesworth died in Sumter County in 1868. Sallie Hainesworth married Dr. Samuel H. Estill of Coatopa.

In the Brewersville Cemetery behind the Christian Valley Baptist Church in Sumter County can be found tombstones marking the graves of Samuel Henderson Estill, born February 27, 1864, died February 10, 1944. He has been identified as the son of Dr. Estill and Sallie Hainesworth. He married Johnnie Turner, the daughter of John S. and Elizabeth Gillespie Turner. She died in 1944.

Descendents of this family still live in Coatopa. Should they have any addition, corrections, or comments we would be pleased if they would write us.

The wife of James L. Hainesworth was Theodosia Trigg. After his death she married Captain James Mooring. After the death of Mooring she lived with the family of Major William G. Little and was known as "Aunt Doe" to the children. Mrs. Theodosia Hainesworth Mooring died in 1912 and was buried next to James L. Hainesworth.

In this article the spelling of this name has been "Hainesworth." The tombstones have "Hainesworth." Marengo County records have it as "Hainesworth" while in Washington County it was "Haynesworth." This name was pronounced by some as "Ainesworth" or "Anesworth." We are satisfied that there are some descendents of Levin Haynesworth who now spell their names without the "H."

To Pat Edwards: Pat, I received a call from Gerald Johnson of Laurel last night. He's the one you noted as being interested in some of my Jones/Ainsworth kin. He believes he is descended from Sampson (Jeffrey) Ainsworth who m. Anne Jones in Washington Co., AL o/a 1835. Anne was a sister of my Gr Gr Grandfather Wm. Bedford Jones. We'll be exchanging what information we have, thanks to you. That info. is slim in the more distant past, Joneses being a various and prolific breed. We believe the Jones/Ainsworths were a family group who came from Christian Co., KY, thru TN, to AL, & were traders with the Indians and moved into the central MS vaccuum resulting from Dancing Rabbit Crk. treaty. Some Jones believed to have intermarried into some Indian tribes. One of Bedford's siblings, Timothy, was b. in TN. Another, Caleb, settled in Davidson Co., TN, acc. to family lore and what doc. is available. I plan to join P.T. but my application has not yet arrived, so I don't know how much money they want for openers. Yours, Harold Hopkins.

Dear Bruce,

Somehow, you need to find H. Martin Soward III. He either lived in Houston or last lived at:

1302 Annapolis
Corpus Christi, Tx. 78415

Martin was very active in genealogy - then he lost his wife who lived in Miss. and refused to move to Texas with him, and then he lost his job and it's been several years since I've heard from him, now. He and his wife researched Amite Co. and Franklin Counties, Miss. Cemeteries and published those and also published Franklin Co., Miss. 1850 census. They were EXCELLENT publications and if not, should be in all libraries who have interests in ancestors in Miss. Anyway, as I promised, I am getting back to you right away. Anything else that come to me concerning your family, I'll send to you.

I have a chart Martin sent me which states siblings of evidently unknown parents. Those siblings are:

1. A. Sebastian Ainsworth b. 1806 Miss. Territory, now Alabama, and that the first name may have been "Asbury". He married Rachel COLLINS and he died after 1860 at (question on this place) Ellis Co., Texas?
2. Eliza G. Ainsworth who was born 11 Feb. 1809 in Miss. Territory, Now Alabama. She married James P. Collins ca. 1837 and she died 3 June 1863 at Gonzales Co., Texas.
3. Jephtha Patterson Ainsworth - born 1816 in Mississippi, married 21 April 1838 in Madison Co., Miss. to Louisa Mary Collins and she died after 1860.
4. Other children???

SO, this is no doubt your family too! Look at all the COLLINS! If you find Martin, please tell him hello for me! He was also of MY Turner family, I believe also, and perhaps you are too. He sent me wonderful papers from the Lawrence Co., Miss. court house on my Turners!

~~If, by chance you can't find him with the above address, write his former wife:-~~

Wrong person!

You see above I had Martin mixed up with J. Paul Mogan! Ignore what I have Xed out in red! Anyway, try to find him! I know he was the one that sent me the probate records of Wm. Turner, but I paid him for the copies, yet I will forever be grateful to him for that! I tried to get him involved in The Ainsworth Trading Post at the time - BUT for whatever reason, he didn't. Lucille Ainsworth has one man in her lineage with the middle name, "Patterson" - so if you can't find Martin, try her:

it's sure same person -

HAZELHURST COURIER - July 7, 1938

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. J.G. Ainsworth and Mr. T.A. Edwards are expected home in a few days from Gettysburg, Pa. where they have been attending the Old Soldiers Reunion. Mr. Ainsworth has remarkable strenght, both mentally and physically for his advanced age and his many friends will be glad to see him on his return.

Another article from THE HAZELHURST COURIER dated July 11, 1938 states: Gen. Ainsworth Returns From Gettysburg Trip and says Brig. General J.G. Ainsworth.

In yet another article on July 28, 1938 it reads, J.G. Ainsworth, Brig. Gen. of U.C.V. announces Staff.

HAZELHURST COURIER - Monday July 11, 1938

Gen. Ainsworth Returns From Gettysburg Trip

Brig. General J. G. Ainsworth, Ooplah's oldest war veteran, returned from Gettysburg, Penn., where he accepted an invitation to attend the general reunion for veterans of the war between the states. He was accompanied by his nephew T. A. Edwards.

Gen. Ainsworth had anticipated this pleasure for a year, this being the first celebration of the two armies coming together, each bearing its own flag, not in military conflict but in a brotherhood spirit of one who has served his country well. "Uncle Gabby" enjoyed every minute of his stay and said he never felt better in his life. President Roosevelt addressed the vast throng and a military display of modern warfare was shown the veterans of the sixties.

Gen. Ainsworth is still living near Centennial church, about three miles south of Browns Wells, where he has lived since the early sixties.

Captain James Edward Ainsworth

In the spring of 1882 the railroad began building west from Long Pine. The first train, a construction train, arrived in Ainsworth, 11 June 1882. Captain James Edward Ainsworth was the civil engineer of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railroad and was in charge of construction.

Captain Ainsworth was a Captain in the 12th Iowa Infantry Volunteers during the Civil War. He fought in the battle of Shiloh.

James Edward was the son of Ralph Ainsworth, born 5 July 1799 at Claremont, N. H., and who married 9 Febr. 1825, Polly Drury Chase, who was born at Wethersfield, Vt., 11 May 1798 and who died at Claremont, 17 Febr., 1865. Ralph was a farmer at Claremont and died 10 July 1853. The children in this family were:

Mary Ann, born 10 Nov. 1825; married 3 June 1855 to William Kent of Paint Creek, Michigan and died 28 Mar. 1856 at Waterloo, IA.

Charles Henry, born 3 June 1829 and a farmer at Claremont. He never married.

James Edward, born 3 June 1831 and married his cousin, Laura Lucretia Ainsworth on 19 Dec. 1867. He died in Williamstown, Vt., in 1909. They had no children.

Luther Edwin, born 26 May 1837; died 1 Nov. 1839.

Helen Elizabeth, born 26 Mar. 1842; and died 27 May 1865.

Ainsworth was incorporated as a village soon after the county was organized. The petition was presented to the Commissioners on 10 Dec. 1883 and was granted. The town was named in honor of Capt. Ainsworth.

The Jan. 28, 1886 issue of the Ainsworth Journal noted that "Cap. Ainsworth, of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri road, went east on Tuesday night's freight."

There is an other town called Ainsworth. This is located in Washington County, Iowa. This town is named after Danforth Ainsworth, who was also an engineer for the Rock Island, when it extended its tracks from the Mississippi to the Great Southwest in about 1858. The town was laid out on land given by Danforth and Sara Ainsworth. About 40 acres were dedicated to the public on 11 Oct. 1858. Danforth Hurlbut Ainsworth was born 8 Mar. 1828 at Capt Vincent, N. Y. and was married for the first time to Sarah Johnson, on 17 Dec. 1851. She was the daughter of Horace and Eliza Johnson and was born 29 Mar. 1829 at Constableville, N. Y. and died 21 Mar. 1864 at Cape Vincent. He married a second time to Elizabeth Johnson, a sister to his first wife, on 4 Dec. 1866. She was born 13 Oct. 1825 and died 2 Sept. 1892. Mr. Ainsworth graduated at Geneva (Hobart) College 1850. He was a Colonel in the U. S. Army and represented a Boston financial syndicate.

A third town called Ainsworth, is located in British Columbia. According to information from the Archives of the Ministry of Provincial Secretary and Government Services, the town was named after Captain George J. Ainsworth. He was an American who owned the famous Blue Bell Mine. He was also a promoter of the Kootenay Railway and Navigation Company. It is also interesting to note that the former name of the place was Hot Springs Camp and when Ainsworth came along in 1883 it became Ainsworth Hot Springs. Later, it became known as Ainsworth. George J. Ainsworth was the son of Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, founder of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company.

A Tom Ainsworth was curator of the Vancouver Museum from 1954 until 1963. He died in 1971. There are at least thirty Ainsworths listed in the Vancouver, B. C. telephone directory and five in the Victoria, B. C. directory.

There is not enough proof, at this time, to tell how these various Ainsworth families are connected.

Editor's note:

Marilyn has furnished much more on her town of Ainsworth, Neb. and also Ainsworth, Canada. We will run more in future issues. Thank you, Marilyn!!!

JAMES LIVINGSTON AINSWORTH
1850 - 1913

James Livingston Ainsworth, seventh child of James S. Ainsworth and Amanda Josephine Ruffin was born 14 June 1850 in Mississippi, d 25 March 1913 in Kenedy, Karnes Co., Texas. He married 2 Jan 1872 in Jasper Co., Miss. to Mary Louise (Lula) Poole, b 24 July 1856 in Choctaw Co., Ala., d 15 Mar 1923, Kenedy, Karnes Co., Texas, dau. of Elizabeth Land Poole Skinner and Jacob Poole. Both are buried in the Kenedy, Tx cemetery.

They were the parents of 11 children, 10 of whom lived to maturity. They began their married life in the Antioch community of Jasper Co., Ms. Sometime after the 1900 census of Jasper Co. they moved their family to Taylorsville, Smith Co., Ms where they ran a general merchandise store, with J. L.'s cousin, Jesse Ainsworth (son of Sampson) and a Mr. Mayfield.

While not much is known of the Ainsworth's life in Jasper Co., we know a little of their life in Taylorsville and later in Texas. From Smith County Mississippi 1935 we learn that Otto Ainsworth, Alma Ainsworth and Alice Ainsworth were charter members of the Taylorsville Missionary Baptist Church, organized December 7, 1901. The churchhouse was built in 1902 and J. L. Ainsworth helped raise money for construction.

Miss Dorrence Eaton, deceased retired school teacher of Taylorsville, and one of it's most prominent citizens wrote:

"The Ainsworths were well thought of in the town and church. We were fond of Alberta and Lavelle (grandchildren of the Ainsworths) and when they came we always went down and played with them. They came here until they were up in their "teens", before the Ainsworths moved to Texas. I remember how good looking Mr. Gid (son-in-law of the Ainsworths) was. He had dark hair and complexion and we were used to Eatons being reddish blonds. Alberta was real pretty. I don't have any pictures-maybe kodaks had not been invented then. I am sorry I have no pictures of the Ainsworths. They were a nice looking dignified couple when they walked down to church, proud of their big family. We hated so much when they moved to Texas, but they liked it.

Mrs. Ainsworth was a most pleasant, talkative woman. She knew a remedy for all children's diseases, (doctors were scarce). She was firm in her dicipline, loved her garden and cows, worked all the time, laughed a lot. We all loved her very much. She was proud of her big family. Mr. Ainsworth was a quiet man, not very large, nor very talkative. They were faithful Baptist and we were all Methodist, so since we ran together, we took in service at both churches. I don't ever remember a church fuss we had. Aunt Ella joined the Methodist church, I think, with Uncle Jim. Their children were mixed. Their youngest grandson is a member of my church here."

Thus a small glimpse of the Ainsworths in Taylorsville from a lady, beloved by all who knew her, and whom this writer met but once and corresponded with only a few short months.

A grandson of the Ainsworths, Leo Brown of Jackson, Ms remembers his grandfather having a great big thick medical book. People would come to him for medical advice, and he would look up their ailments in his book and treat them or tell them how to treat themselves. He was also a dentist, of sorts, for Uncle Leo says his grandfather would pull teeth for people with nothing used to deaden the pain!

Tradition of the Ainsworths who remained in Miss. says that the Ainsworths were wealthy, having made a fortune in the store and in land dealings. About 1910 they removed to Kenedy, Tx, taking with them a very large sum of cash. It is said that they moved to Texas because of J. L.'s health; that he had asthma. It is also said that he lost his fortune in the store he opened in Texas. It is not known if this is true, for according to his will, written 22 Mar 1913, he still owned the store. In his will he left everything to his beloved wife, M. L. Ainsworth. She in turn bequeathed everything she owned to be divided equally to her children: James W. Ainsworth, Otto S. Ainsworth, William Lott Ainsworth, Oliver Ainsworth, Mrs. Emma Brown, Mrs. Ella Hinton, Mrs. Alice A. Stephenson, Mrs. Alma Mooney, Mrs. Cora L. Trott, and Mrs. Bessie Seale.

From another great granddaughter of the Ainsworths, Mrs. Donna Atkins of Kingsville, Tx: "My parents are buried on the same plot as J. L. and Mary Louise. The Kenedy Cemetery plots are sold in lots of 4 and 8. The Ainsworth bought a block of 8 in 1913 when J. L. died. He and Mary Louise are buried there. There were no other graves until 1965 when daddy died. At that time, Alma, who tended the graves and still continued to put flowers out for Christmas, Easter, etc., suggested that mother bury daddy there and she did, at the feet of J. L. When mother died in 1979, she was buried at the feet of Mary Louise. The lot has a cement curb around it and the cemetery is in active use. They have trouble with groundskeepers, but on the whole it is well maintained. Now that Alma is gone and my parents are gone, Lucille and I keep flowers on the graves of J. L. and Mary Louise and I take care of my parents.

I believe the photos show the Ainsworth store (the Ainsworth Mercantile Company). I know where the store was located and the building was just torn down about 2 years ago (1980). The building was empty for my entire life (I was born in 1949) and I don't know when the store was closed."

The photos referred to are those this writer now owns. This past summer Uncle Leo and I met for the first time, his first cousin, Mrs. Lucille Thames of Kenedy, who described a bit of the store. The office was located in a balcony like area, enclosed by turned ballisters. Money and charge slips were sent through suction tubes up to the office from the sales area. I assume this was like the old Alex Loeb store in Meridian, Ms, "the" place to go when I was growing up. I expressed surprise at such a "fancy" store owned by my great grandparents and Lucille informed me that there are still many stores like this in Texas today. I had somehow pictured their store as those we know in the south today, a great big country general merchandise store. Lucille also told us of recently talking with an elderly lady in Kenedy who told her that her husband had purchased her a hat from the Ainsworth Mercantile Company when they were first married. The loveliest hat she had EVER owned, she said!

The father of this writer went out to Texas and lived with his grandmother and aunts and uncles and cousins in Kenedy for about a year in 1916. The few pictures he brought back, plus one made about 1922 of Mary Louise Poole Ainsworth, her daughter Emma Elvian Ainsworth Brown, her grandson Jay Lavelle Brown, and great granddaughter Mary Emma Brown Wright, on probably her last visit back to Miss., are treasured by our family.

The two older daughters are the only ones of this family who remained in Miss., having already married and started their families when their parents moved to Kenedy ca 1910.

As I said, old Joseph Ainsworth had two wives. I believe YOU descend by way of his 1st wife, children of which are unknown, except rumor passed down that he had nine children by that first wife, two of which were named Joseph (who m. Anna Jackson) and William. Nothing else is known. We do know the names of all his 8 children by his 2nd wife. I'm quite sure YOU do not descend from any of those, neither does Lucille Ainsworth's husband, nor does Gloria Bruister, among many.

If I find anything new for you - I'll yell. YES, I'm quite sure, It was a COLLINS who was the lawyer in Texas and he married ~~ten~~ Eliza G. Ainsworth mentioned above. I can't find that info right now, but I found this in a book in the library concerning prominent Texans - can't remember that book's title, must less the author, but I have it here somewhere! I have a xerox, I mean, of that particular person from that book.

I'm always delighted to help anyone. Please excuse this poor quality of a letter. We are still in a mess, even though we moved 3 months ago. We just sold our old house and that is a big weight off our shoulders, but now the problem is getting the builder of our new house to finish his work!

Sincerely,

Edwin

PS - If you find Martin, give him

^{my} new address!
I opened this to say:
I believe Martin's address changed to:

In fact I'm quite sure above is the last address I have for him ⁽¹⁹⁸⁴⁾ Anyway sounds as if he could still be in Corpus Christi - I think he might be a school teacher -
